WHEREAS, the Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) remains a threat to Tennesseans in Washington County, our healthcare systems, and our economy, and each Tennessean in Washington County should continue to protect themselves and others by following applicable health guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and other leading medical experts to slow the spread of this virus, including practicing social distancing, effective personal hygiene practices, and “wearing cloth face coverings in public settings and when around people who don’t live in your household, especially when other social distancing measures are difficult to maintain”; and

WHEREAS, after consultation with the Mayor and City Manager of The City of Johnson City, the Mayor of the Town of Jonesborough, and a number of local officials conducting government business in public buildings, the County Mayor finds that there is a consensus that the wearing of cloth or other face coverings should be encouraged and required in certain circumstances, and should take effect as soon as possible;
